

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

A method for reducing the level of freeze-thaw voids in an uncured adhesive subjected to freezing and thawing comprises storing the adhesive in a container in which the walls of the container are a thermoplastic material and have been thinned and roughened.